PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

Enterprise sales leader with 12 years inside a global enterprise software (ISV) platform business, at the front edge of the AI shift — selling AI capabilities, evaluating them in the field before release, and guiding Canada's largest retail, consumer goods, and regulated organizations from AI ambition to measurable adoption. A people-leader who builds enterprise teams from the ground up — recruiting, hiring, onboarding, and developing talent — and aligns matrixed organizations without formal authority. Orchestrates multi-year C-suite transformation programs and translates platform depth into business outcomes. Approaches enterprise AI as an architecture and operating-model challenge rather than a capability problem, holding a vendor-neutral view of the reference stack and the governance that has to hold across it.
